Ashwaubenon High School Yearbook Earns 3rd Place Design Award

Ashwaubenon, WI – April 28, 2015 – On April 22nd, Ashwaubenon High School’s 2013-14 yearbook was awarded 3rd place for overall design in the medium school category at the NEWSPA Conference at UW-Oshkosh. The 2013-14 yearbook was under the prior advisement of teacher Emma Slowinski and student editor Katherine Enderby.

This year’s 12th grade student co-editors, Jordan Manders and Nicole Gottfredsen, won 1st and 2nd place honors in several individual categories. Jordan placed 1st in the categories of Divider, Copy Package, Double Page Spread-Sports, Double Page Spread – Student Life, Page Design/Layout, and Index. Nicole Gottfredsen placed 1st in the Sports Story, Extracurricular Story, Double Page Spread Clubs, and Candid Photo categories.

NEWSPA, Northeastern Wisconsin Scholastic Press Association, is a flourishing program for high school journalists. The program holds a large conference in the spring at UW-Oshkosh where more than 400 students and advisers participate in sessions and panels led by professionals in the photography and journalism fields. NEWSPA also sponsors adviser training sessions, yearbook competitions and newspaper competitions. School yearbooks are sent to NEWSPA in the fall and are critiqued on page design, copy and photography.
