Hello families!

Farm to School activity is off to the races with this warmer weather! We recently celebrated the Wisconsin Chili Lunch, where schools around the state make chili with as many local ingredients as possible. The graphic below shows where the ingredients for our chili came from. We got a chance to work with some new suppliers, which was exciting!

The hydroponic farms are up and running. We've been given the opportunity to grow herbs for Taste of the Draft, a fundraiser dinner to combat student hunger, supported by the Packers, which is keeping us busy! Besides that, we're looking ahead to summer and our farmer's market booth. Eco Club has been working with us to develop a plan for marketing and pricing.

Finally, as always, we've been working to serve as many local ingredients in the cafeteria as possible. The salad bar in particular often has many local options, such as cucumbers, mushrooms, broccoli, and cauliflower. We're glad to have partnerships with local farmers and organizations that make this possible!

Until next time,
Anna & Emily
